PREVIEW: Phase II at Park Hill - Sat 30 Sep: 3 - 6pm

Please join us for a special event to launch our second phase at Park Hill marking the inauguration of Sculpture Park Hill with its first commission Park Hill Plinths.

This event profiles Sculpture Park Hill as part of S1 Artspace's second phase at the Park Hill estate and provides an opportunity to view our new temporary premises part way through their renovation. The former garage block that sits in the heart of the Park Hill estate – Europe's largest listed structure – is currently being transformed to become S1's new public gallery and artist studios, which will officially open in late 2017.

Presenting artist Keith Wilson's Park Hill Plinths as the initial and only permanent work in a finally established landscape, this event marks the beginning of a future public programme at Sculpture Park Hill. Commissioned by Urban Splash, Park Hill Plinths are positioned across a 3.5 acre site designed in collaboration between Keith Wilson and landscape architect Tim Osborne to create a new footprint for sculpture in Sheffield.

An informal exhibition of Wilson's studio works, alongside archival film and photographs showing the changing nature of the interior landscape at Park Hill will be presented across S1's new premises. Looking at the site's historical transformation, we hope to start a conversation about the future of the sculpture park and our further ambitions at Park Hill.

Starting at 3.30pm, talks and tours will be held in the former garage by: S1's director Louise Hutchinson about the organisation's future plans, introducing the second phase at Park Hill; artist Keith Wilson about the development and intentions of Park Hill Plinths; and Urban Splash's Regeneration Director Mark Latham about the collaboration with Wilson and their ambitions for the Park Hill site.

The event is free to attend and welcome to all. Please note, as our new premises are part way through renovation, sensible footwear is recommended.
